Jim Brown Has Thrilling Experience With Run-away.

Went Over the Top and Throu Wire Entanglement.

Jim Brown who lives on Gainesboro R-2, had a thrilling experience Wednesday evening, when his mules made an effort to run-away. Jim was leaving town and was turning the corner opposite Dr. Loftis when his team took a sudden notion to run. He reigned them in the rock wall below W. M. Gailbreath's residence, but they came right up over the wall, wagon, Jim and all, around the back of Mr. Gailbreath's house and out thru the yard, dodging trees and clothes lines, and out over a wall 2 feet high into the street and up to Mrs Butler's gate, where he ran them against a tree.

If you will take a look at the route some day when in town, you will give Jim the ribbon for being an expert when it comes to guiding a team, especially at the speed he was making. Some suggest that Jim would make good on a British Tank, and if anybody could reach Berlin he could.

THE SLACKER.

Now since we've joined the army
Do you think it's doing right,
To treat the slacker better
Than the man who has to fight?
If he won't defend his country,
He is hardly worth a d—,
And nothing but a nuisance
In the eyes of Uncle Sam.

From eighteen years to forty,
He's supposed to volunteer,
And buckle on his armour
With but little sign of fear.
But you'll find him chasing dollars
Playing games or at a dance:
For he'd rather go to h—
Than take a trip to France.

We're not disposed to grumble,
But we think it mighty queer,
That the soldier drinks the water
While the slacker drinks beer.
We must always be in quarters
Rather early in the night.
And line up in the morning
With our faces clean and bright.

But the slacker is a piker,
And with no one else to please,
Ave the one and forty pounder
That he arms around with ease.
He is all for gain and pleasure,
For his country takes no chance
For he ought to go to h—
If he doesn't go to France.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR EYESIGHT

Eyesight is a priceless possession. Yet how often do people neglect their eyes until too late? Your eyes may need attention now without knowing it. Please read.

On no part of the great "Safety First" movement is there more concentration of energy than that relating to the protection of the eyes. If you believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure—if you would be on the "safe side" you will come to me for consultation and examination.

LEARN THE TRUTH ABOUT YOUR EYES.

It may be that you are in need of glasses. If, on the other hand, you are not I will frankly tell you so.

PERFECT VISION IS A REAL BLESSING.

You owe it to yourself to preserve it, and by doing so you frequently prevent suffering from other bodily ailments; headaches and indigestion are often traceable to eyestrain. The effect of strain on the delicate nerves and muscles of the eye isn't confined to the eye. It reaches every part of the body. If you find it the least effort to read an ordinary newspaper, if it tires the eyes, or if you cannot distinguish objects easily, your eyes need attention, and proper attention.

I Will be at the Johnson Hotel, Gainesboro, the first Monday in September prepared to fit glasses scientifically. Don't fail to see me.

J. W. ROSS, Optometrist.
